10 Things you Should Know About the FirstGlance Indie Film Fest

PHILADELPHIA, PA, October 7, 2008 – 10 things you should know about the FirstGlance Indie Film Festival, October 16th-19th, 2008 at Prince Music Theater, 1412 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia:

- It's run by indie filmmakers for indie filmmakers
- They give you options – features, shorts, animation, documentaries, student directed – plus, whatever your genre, they have it.
- You can afford it – tickets start at only $8.00.
- You can choose the winning short which will play on closing night. Register, watch and vote at www.firstglancefilms.com.
- You can meet and mingle with actors and actresses like Miranda Bailey, writers, producers and directors at after parties at NoChe, Drinker's Pub and Upstares & Sotto Varalli.
- You can buy an All Access Pass for all screenings and parties and feel like one of the filmmakers.
- You may uncover an undiscovered talent - the next Spielberg or Scorsese may be in the house.
- You can see films starring your favorite actors like Kevin Nealon, Adam Busch, Kristen Stewart, Chris Klein, Joe Mantegna, Mary Stuart Masterson, Tom Arnold and Christopher Titus.
- They celebrate some of the best filmmakers from the Philadelphia area.
- They're Philly's longest running "truly" independent film fest – celebrating 11 years.
